

CONVALESCENCE OF PRESIDENT WILL BE SLOW

Harding Started On Long
Road to Complete
Recovery

PUBLIC IS WARNED

Told Not to Accept Belief
That Chief Will Speedily
Get Well.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—President Harding had another restful night and continued to make marked improvement today on his road to recovery, it was announced at 8 o'clock this morning by Dr. Charles F. Sawyer.

The president awoke early this morning after a refreshing sleep without any traces of fever whatever. His temperature at 8 o'clock was 98.6, his respiration 36 and his pulse 110, reflecting improvement on all points over the previous medical bulletin issued late yesterday.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—President Harding started in today on what Dr. Charles F. Sawyer, his chief physician, termed "the long difficult road to convalescence."

The President is officially "out of the woods" in his battle against the combination of diseases which have kept him bedfast since Saturday but the concern of the doctors is to maintain the ground gained during the last few days.

"The road to convalescence is a long, tedious one," said Dr. Sawyer. "We are likely to have our ups and downs and anything is liable to happen."

Dr. Sawyer said the public should be warned against accepting the rapid recovery made to date as indicative that the President is going to speedily become well. He terms the progress today as "very satisfactory" and "fortunate," and his caution today was against "overconfidence."

Every indication this morning pointed to the President's having made further progress on the road to recovery. He went to sleep shortly before midnight and at four a. m. reports from the sick room indicated he was still sleeping.

This restful sleep which the President has succeeded in getting for the last few nights has been perhaps the most valuable single aid in restoring the President to the stage which the doctors term convalescence. The sleep has largely overcome the nervous exhaustion which Mr. Harding was suffering from to a marked degree when he arrived in San Francisco. The more he can sleep, the doctors said today, the more rapid will be his complete recovery.

Mr. Harding himself is feeling so fit that he has already begun to feel a little impatient at remaining long in San Francisco. He said to Dr. Sawyer last night:

"What do you think about getting away on Sunday?"

Dr. Sawyer's reply was non-committal but it is very doubtful if any attempt will be made to move for a week at least. The progress to date has been so satisfactory and the President has been so comfortable that the physicians are chary of inviting a setback through over-excitement by the chief executive back to the White House.

The "lung condition" referred to in the official bulletins is continuing to improve. This refers to the white patches indicating broncho-pneumonia and their appearance made at night in the clinical examination later confirmed in the x-ray examination. All along has been the most menacing and alarming factor in the President's case. These patches are now clearing up and virtually all danger of pneumonia has now fled.

The great job ahead of the physicians, they said, lies in building up the President's strength by slow and easy stages. There is no royal or easy road to this improvement. Dr. Sawyer said and anything precipitate, or hurried is likely to lose in a few hours the ground gained over several tedious days. The President's digestive abilities are still badly impaired as a result of the poisons from the pneumonia attack and the purgatives administered so freely during the first few days of his illness and they require "nursing along."

Mrs. Harding is beginning to show slightly the strain she has been under during the past week. So long as the President's condition was considered "grave" she bore up with a fortitude considered remarkable in view of her own state of health. But now that the convalescence stage has been reached, she appeared tired.

BOUND, GAGGED AND ROBBED

Akron, O., Aug. 2.—Two bandits bound and gagged Michael Consentino and escaped with $1,240 in cash and postal savings stamps. It was revealed when Consentino was found in some woods near here. Consentino told police he was lured from a construction camp by two men who claimed they had a message for him from friends in Europe.

OPTIMISTIC REPORT OF CONDITION OF PRESIDENT GIVEN

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—By far the most optimistic bulletin that has yet emanated from President Harding's sick room was issued at 9:50 o'clock Pacific coast time, this morning by the staff of five attending physicians.

They announced that the President had a restful night and that his condition today showed marked improvement over yesterday.

The pneumonic condition which was a source of chief concern to the doctors, showed definite improvement today, and pulse and respiration more nearly approached normal.

"While recovery will inevitably take some little time," the bulletin concluded, "we are more confident than heretofore as to the outcome of his illness."

The physicians found the chief executive with no temperature whatever, with his pulse, which has been abnormally high, dropped down to 100 and with respiration, which also was abnormally high, considerably reduced and regular.

"POLITICAL BUNK" SAYS DONAHEY OF STORY OF CONVICTS

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—"The whole affair is a 'frameup' inspired by political enemies of the Governor," declared J. A. Meestroth, secretary to Governor Donahey here today, commenting on the controversy resulting from the action of the Governor in taking two life prisoners from the Ohio Penitentiary into Canada, to act as cook and chauffeur for the Governor and his party on a two weeks' fishing vacation at Cobouk, Ontario.

Warden Thomas, of the Ohio Penitentiary, is a member of the Governor's party.

"A signed pardon for Earl Jennings, the chauffeur, is in the Governor's desk. It was signed just before the Governor left for Canada, to be available in case anything should happen to the Governor while he was away," explained Secretary Meestroth.

"We anticipated this attack on the part of the Governor's enemies. The whole question can be settled by the Governor pardoning the men on the spot, if necessary. I believe he will either do that, or come home with them, should they by any chance, be deported."

"In view of the fact that Governor Donahey and Warden Thomas are personally responsible for the prisoners, who have both been trustees for years, the people of Canada are in no way endangered by the presence of Jennings and Ziplana, the prisoners," continued Secretary Meestroth.

Attorney General Crabbe has not indicated that he will take any action in the matter.

Secretary Meestroth, who is awaiting word from Governor Donahey, expected today, voiced belief that the presence of the two Ohio prisoners in Canada does not constitute any violation of the spirit of the provision of immigration laws of that country decreeing deportation of persons possessing criminal records.

Secretary Meestroth expressed belief that the fact that the prisoners are in custody of both Governor Donahey and Warden Thomas, while in Canada and that both prisoners rendered years of satisfactory service as "trustees" while prisoners, warrant the confidence now being placed in them by the Governor and Warden and constitute ample guarantee against any probability that their presence in Canada might endanger, in the slightest degree, the welfare of Canadian residents.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 2.—Governor Donahey, of Ohio, in an interview with the Toronto Star Wednesday characterized as "political bunk," the prominence given the news that two convicts were accompanying his fishing party in northern Ontario, as servants.

FRANCS FALL TO NEW LOW LEVEL

Paris, Aug. 2.—Possibility that Premier Stanley Baldwin of England would announce a break with France on reparations issue, led to excited trading on the Bourse today. Frances fell to the lowest level in history, selling at 17.51 for one United States dollar or 80 for one English pound sterling.

Despite the gloom in financial circles, political circles were optimistic that the British would invite further negotiations with France.

HOUSES ARE WRECKED

Cleveland, O., August 2.—Two houses just completed were completely wrecked by an explosion of dynamite early today. An entire block on Garfield avenue, in the east was rocked by the force of the blast. Many windows were broken.

SUITOR, WHO ANNOYED HER, SLAIN

Miss Jane Remington, wife.

Miss Jane Remington, beautiful actress, of Morris, Ill., complained to the police there that Blaine Beach, a wealthy Joliet merchant, with whom she had been friendly, but from whom she had become estranged, was annoying her with his attentions. When he appeared near her home at night there a deputy sheriff was sent to investigate. The officer thought Beach reached for a revolver and shot him to death.

MAN SWIMS ACROSS LAKE ERIE COVERING MORE THAN 33 MILES

Cleveland Y. M. C. A. Swimmer Remains in Water for 21
Hours and 45 Minutes—Suffers Severe
Pains in Legs.

Lorain, O., Aug. 2.—The gasoline yacht Argus, with her five passengers safe and well, arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. The boat had been lost in a fog on the lake and trouble with the engine also developed.

Lorain, O., Aug. 2.—Carbis Walker, Cleveland, Y. M. C. A. swimmer, ended here this morning after having swam across Lake Erie, a distance of 33 miles. It was the first time a swimmer had ever performed the feat.

Walker landed at 5:15. He went to sleep immediately but awakened four hours later complaining of severe pains in his legs.

"I will never attempt it again," he said as he awoke.

Following Walker's safe arrival, an airplane piloted by William Long, of Lorain, put out from this port in an effort to locate the launch Argus, which was at first reported as accompanying Walker and the rowboat carrying his five companions. The Argus had not been seen by any members of the arriving party and it was feared she might be lost or disabled and her six passengers drowned.

On the launch are Charles D. Siders, commander of the Cleveland Yacht club, H. T. Lammers, fleet surgeon and Ray Gibbons, M. F. Ranney and George Durthick, Cleveland newspapermen.

The Argus put out from Put-in-Bay. It is a 30 foot cabin cruiser, propelled by gasoline engines.

When Walker arrived, he was accompanied by a rowboat containing five persons. Although in an air line, the distance is but 33 miles. Walker covered a much greater distance in accomplishing his record breaking feat. The sun and moon

GUNBOATS ARRIVE TO PROTECT CITIZENS

Manila, August 2.—Advices from Amoy, where there has been fighting between contending Chinese factions for control of the city today stated two Japanese destroyers and some American gunboats had arrived to protect foreigners. Two British gunboats which left Hong Kong for Amoy yesterday are expected to arrive soon.

Peking, Aug. 2.—Another military coup emanating from either Pao Ting Fu or Tien Tsin is expected daily in Peking.

Marshall Tsao Kun has ordered the police to watch strictly the doings of parliament.

Tien Tsin officials already have moved troops in the direction of Nanking, where Governor Chin Si-Yuan is practically the prisoner of his own men.

STATE RE-OPENS CASE TO PLACE NEW EVIDENCE

Rusted Revolver Introduced
As Testimony at Whitfield Trial.

BOYS FIND WEAPON

Said To Have Been Carried
By Cleveland Policeman
When Murdered

Cleveland, O., Aug. 2.—The state was permitted to re-open its case to place in evidence the rusted revolver carried by Patrolman Dennis Griffin on the morning of May 11, when he met death in the automobile owned and driven by John L. Whitfield, who is now on trial charged with murder, before Judge Frank C. Phillips and a jury in Common Pleas Court here.

The weapon found by three barefoot lads as they played beside a creek at Maple Heights yesterday, was brought into court but it was not introduced in evidence until after a long legal battle between attorneys for the state and defense. The defense at first objected but finally Attorney Arthur H. Day suggested that the defense would withdraw its witness offered late yesterday and the state be permitted to proceed as though its case had not been closed.

The lads, who found the gun were in court in their bare feet today. They told about their find and when one of them said that they afterwards buried it beside the road, Judge Phillips interjected:

"You did that so the owner might forget about it and then when you dug it up again it would be yours?"

The boy nodded confirmation and the judge continued aside:

"I used to do that very thing myself."

Court was late in opening, a number of minor criminal cases engaging the attention of Judge Phillips until nearly noon it then appeared doubtful as to whether it would be possible for the state to complete its case until late in the afternoon.

CASE REACHES OHIO HIGHEST COURT

An action for partition, titled Olivia May Judy and others against James Trolinger, and others, which has been involved in considerable litigation in Greene County Common Pleas Court and the Court of Appeals has reached the State Supreme Court.

A motion for an order directing the Greene County Appellate Court to certify its record in the case was filed with the State Supreme Court Monday. Hearing on the motion has not been held.

The case was carried to the Court of Appeals by Olivia May Judy and others on error. In rendering the decision the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the lower court as to all the plaintiffs in error except as to Florence Martin, nee Judy, who denied being a party defendant to the original action. As to her claim the Court of Appeals reserved judgment of the lower court and remanded the case with instructions to overrule her demurrer to the reply and for further proceedings.

The case is an action by the heirs at law of Martha J. Judy to recover certain real estate in possession of James C. Trolinger.

PURCHASE PLANT OF STEEL COMPANY

Mansfield, O., Aug. 2.—The Dacey Brothers, owners of the Mansfield Sheet and Tin Plate Plant of this city have purchased the plant of the Ashtabula Steel Company.

The plant will remain at Ashtabula but the offices will be brought to Mansfield. The Mansfield Steel plant wanted another plant to absorb the output of its open hearths recently installed.

SNAP SHOTS

Snow in midsummer has laid low the crops 15 miles west of Calgary, Alberta, and the foothills are white. Snow also is reported in Banff, Dewinton and Clarholm. A minimum temperature of 38 degrees above zero was registered in some sections.

Policeman Arthur J. Bower was killed at Methuen, Mass., by a shot from an automobile which he held up to look at the driver's license. The three men in the car escaped.

Boarding the French steamship Alaska at Los Angeles harbor customs collectors seized 3,300 gallons of French wines.

Three youths who wounded two agents and killed another a week ago at West Point, Ga., when their car was halted were acquitted. The youths claimed they thought the prohibition agents were highwaymen.

AUTO SMASHED BY ROCK

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—Two cars of a freight train, plunging from the New York Central tracks at West Fifty-eighth street bridge, loosened two huge boulders of the bridge pier so that they crashed to the street directly on top of a passing automobile, the driver of which, J. L. Reinart, escaped unscathed. The automobile was demolished.

ENFORCE BLUE LAWS OF STATE

Virgil Fitch, prosecuting attorney of Mason County, Mich., has a way of getting at a puritanically-minded woman of his county who insisted that dance halls should be closed on Sunday. Mr. Fitch promptly began a study of every blue law on the statute books of Michigan and began applying them with a vengeance in Ludington, the county seat, and the rest of the county. "What's fair for one is fair for all," he asserts. The first person he was called upon to prosecute was his own son, charged with dancing on Sunday.

APATHY AMONG WOMEN IS SEEN

Washington, Aug. 2.—Apathy noted by political leaders among the men of the country on the world court question likewise extends to the women voters, according to Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, head of the women's branch of the Republican national committee. Mrs. Upton stated that during a trip she has just completed through nine states of the middle west and south she found the women to be paying very little attention to the court proposal.

"The women seem to be very little interested in this question," she said. "They know the senate is going to mull around with it anyhow, regardless of what the women think. My observation was that the women of the states I visited were taking a little more interest in the question of an adequate American merchant marine than in the court proposal."

COURT CONDEMNS OHIO ROAD STATUTE

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—Severe condemnation of the Ohio statute which gives the state highway director arbitrary power to change the amount of materials to be used in a road construction project, after the contract has been let, is contained in an opinion of three Franklin County Appellate Court judges.

The court's decision denied an injunction asked against payment of estimates on four road projects of Lorain County.

"We are convinced that this right should not be given the director and that the Legislature never intended to invest him with such arbitrary power," the courts opinion reads.

It was indicated that the case may be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

COL. BRYAN COMES OUT AGAINST CANDIDACY OF OSCAR UNDERWOOD

Does Not Believe Alabama Man Will Be Selected As Democratic Standard Bearer of 1924 In Statement Thursday.

Washington, Aug. 2.—William Jennings Bryan does not believe that Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, will be selected as the Democratic presidential candidate in 1924.

He made this plain today in an exclusive statement telegraphed to international News Service from his home in Miami, Florida, and he served notice at the same time that he would oppose Underwood in the primaries and in the national convention next spring because he represents "Wall street and the wets."

Though he has been three times defeated for the Presidency, while carrying the Democratic standard, Colonel Bryan still has an influential following with the party and his views will have an important bearing on the formation of the Democratic platform next year and the naming of the party's presidential candidate.

Despite his inability to get himself in the White House, his political opinions, based on his long experience in national politics, and his recent travels from one end of the country to the other, will be listened to and respected, while the "dry" Democrats and many of the "progressives" in the party will rally around him as their natural leader and spokesman.

Bryan chose to throw his bombshell into the Underwood camp just as the friends of the Alabama senator were assuring themselves that he had placed himself in a position to win the votes of the "drys" by announcing that he stood for enforcement of the Volstead act even if he had been against prohibition when the question was before congress. They had been reassured too, because Senator Underwood, as soon as he had announced his candidacy on Tuesday, received the endorsement of the Anti-Saloon League of Alabama, regardless of his wet record.

GREAT BRITAIN ASKS WORLD AID ON REPARATIONS

To Make Appeal to Force
Settlement of German
Indemnity Problem

NEED PROMPT ACTION

England Has Determined
Upon More Aggressive
Policy Toward Issue

London, August 2.—Official statements made in parliament today indicated that Great Britain will appeal to the world to force a settlement of the Ruhr reparations issue. It is possible this may prove the first step toward independent British action. The allied negotiations are deadlocked and the British are seeking outside pressure to force France to show her hand.

Premier Baldwin, in the House of Commons and Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon in the House of Lords made identical statements upon the reparations problem. They did not reveal whether Great Britain intends to negotiate separately with Germany and both avoided mentioning the possibility of a break with France.

The statements indicated Great Britain would await world reaction to today's invitation before taking the next step.

TWO SETS OF VIEWS

While the British, French and Belgian reparations notes have not been made public, it is understood that the two sets of views contrast as follows:

France:—Demands cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr before reparations negotiations are opened; insists upon retention of French troops in the Ruhr until Germany pays; opposes the appointment of an international commission to fix the exact amount of indemnity Germany must pay.

England:—Suggests appointment of an international tribunal to fix the exact amount of Germany reparations and the method of payment; favors a more lenient policy towards Germany economically and the restoration of German industries and mills to enable the Germans to get on their feet.

Both statesmen declared that the French and Belgian replies to the British note held out no hope for a joint answer to the German reparations offer of June 7 or an early settlement of the problem. Curzon and Baldwin said that Great Britain will publish her reparations notes showing the world her endeavors to bring about a settlement.

Hope was expressed that this action might convince the world of the imperative necessity for prompt and united action.

The statements showed today that Great Britain has determined upon a more aggressive policy. In announcing the decision to make public Great Britain's notes, Lord Curzon said:

"The government has decided to lay before parliament with the least possible delay all British documents which record our endeavors. We are inviting the allies to agree to the publication of their part of the correspondence."

"His Majesty's government entertains the hope that the publication of these papers might assist in determining the real dimensions of the problem with which the Allies are confronted and might convince the world of the imperative necessity for prompt and united action to deal with it."

Styles BY LENORE

Many opportunities for attractive summer costumes are offered by the vogue of the bright blue jacket worn with white skirts or with straight-line dresses in delicate colors. Typical of these is the model shown in the cut, which a smart young woman wore at a country club. The jacket, is a vivid green, made of flannel, and the skirt is white. Another young woman favored the same idea, wearing over a pale yellow frock a short jacket similar to this one, but in a deep Chinese blue that was the outstanding note of the vicinity. In each instance the hat was a felt cloche which matched the color of the coat.

For a cool day in the country, and as a change to the sweater, a slip-over blouse of serge or flannel, in white or colors, is shown in a Fifth Avenue shop. It is made with pink scalloped edges.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regnier Co., Bk 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

"SALE" and "bargain" are attractive words. But there is something more attractive in Standard Goodyear Service. For one thing, it is trustworthy. When you buy a Goodyear Tire from us authorized Goodyear Dealers, you know we'll help you get all the mileage out of it. That's real economy. "Bargains" sometimes aren't.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cord with the beveled All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

By Those Who Know

"Is this the time to build?"

It's one of the most frequently asked questions. And in all sincerity can we now answer—

"Yes—it is."

The present offers no indication of reduction in prices. The demand for building materials is general. Added to this is the recent increase in freight rates. All tending to increase, rather than decrease the cost of materials.

One condition we must never lose sight of. While there may still be years of cutting in some of our timbered sections, that same timber is becoming more difficult to reach each year, and is being brought into the markets at an ever increasing cost.

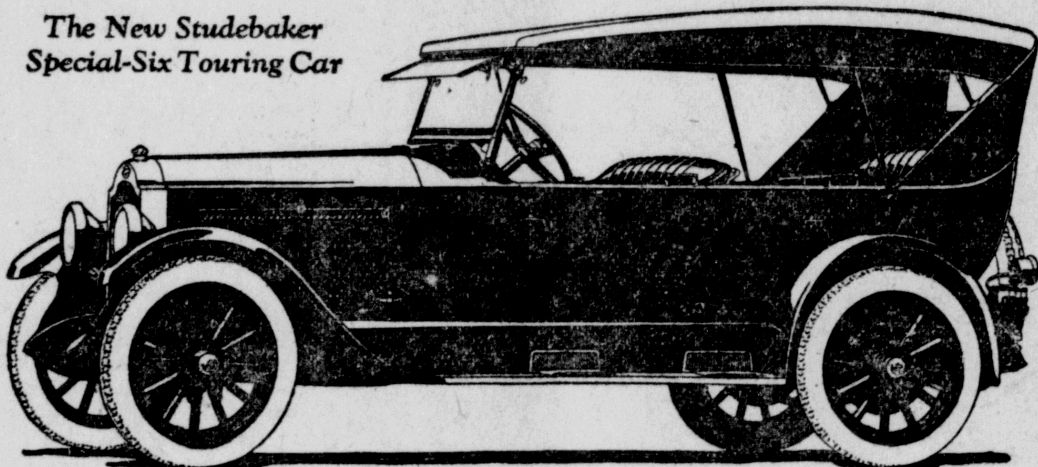

These sections are, in most cases, remote from the better transportation facilities, which again tends to increase the cost. Labor, generally, has not reverted to the prices of pre-war days—nor can we expect it to.

The present offers the greatest opportunity for economical building. If you're planning to build or repair—do it

Before you buy any car, see the STUDEBAKER 1924 MODELS

Studebaker presents its complete line of 1924 models, announced a week ago, with the conviction that they will increase the prestige of the name Studebaker which, for 71 years, has stood for the best in transportation, quality and value of product.

Into these 1924 cars are built every proved feature in design that makes for the comfort, convenience and safety of passengers, and many refinements that further enhance the value of a line of cars already highly perfected.

It is common knowledge in the steel industry that Studebaker uses only the highest grades of the finest steels. And the same is true of the electrical equipment, instruments, bearings, batteries, upholstery, finishing paints, tires and accessories used in Studebaker cars.

It is equally well known that Studebaker, with $90,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plant facilities, is unsurpassed in ability and resources to manufacture economically and give maximum intrinsic value for a given price.

Produced under these favorable conditions, the 1924 Studebakers are distinctly the finest cars and greatest values Studebaker ever offered.

These are not careless statements. They are facts that reflect the honesty and integrity of the manufacturer and its product just as they do the truth of Studebaker advertising.

The public has placed its confidence in Studebaker by accepting these facts, supported by the performance of Studebaker cars in owners' use. That's why Studebaker sales for the past six years have increased progressively each year and sales for the first six months of 1923 of 81,880 cars broke all six months' records.

Studebaker never cheapens quality to meet competition. The name Studebaker stands for satisfaction and service.

THE REAL ISSUE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

It is essential to a clear understanding of the Philippine situation to emphasize the fact that what America has done for the Philippines has been accomplished with the constant admission of the natives themselves to co-operation, participation and actual administration, as they have revealed themselves progressing in knowledge and ability. There has not been an arbitrary imposition of extraneous authority; the consent and aid of the governed have been earnestly sought as that consent and aid became intelligent.

The mass of the people of the islands recognize the benefits of American rule. The establishment of law and order, with respect for life and the right to property, is one of the first advantages that are due to the American protectorate. The population of the wilder islands, "half devil and half child," have been brought under a reign of law they never knew. There has been a phenomenal achievement in sanitation, which has meant deliverance from the pests of smallpox, bubonic plague and cholera and the segregation and partial cure of lepers. A sound and thorough system of education has been installed. The judiciary scheme has been recast and the monetary system has been stabilized on a gold basis. Roads have been built and agriculture has been enormously stimulated, so that in the first decade and a half of American rule the exports were quadrupled.

Not one of these things has been accomplished without the determined and protracted resistance of politicians who found their occupation gone under the new order. When General Wood took hold he had to face not merely the cumulative abuses but the individual abuse. The self-anointed protagonist of "the people's cause" has been Manuel Quezon, president of the Senate—able, unscrupulous, eloquent—who has come out openly against the "strong, tyrannical foreigner," and promises that no appointment made by Wood will be confirmed by the Senate when it convenes next October. The issue is simply who shall be the real head of the Government—the man who impersonates and perpetuates all the good the United States has accomplished for the Philippines in a quarter of a century or the man whose authorized ascendancy will mean the return of the Filipinos to the mire of bloody revolution and sinister machination, of graft and loot, of rank selfishness masquerading as lofty patriotism from which the United States was bringing the islands out of ignorant heathendom to enlightened civilization.

Quezon has been sniping at Wood in ambush from the first. His recent action in procuring from a sycophantic Legislature the demand for Wood's recall is merely the capstone of his offending, in logical sequence, to all that went before. He and those siding with him fail to see that the first and surest way for the Filipinos to take if they wish to prove themselves fit for the complete self-government is not the way of threats, intimidation and bloody violence, but the way of sobriety and industry, of co-operation in administration, of earnest support of the altruistic and disinterested effort of our Government to assist the social, industrial and economic evolution of the islanders. The true Filipino patriot is bound to recognize the gains that have been made and the losses that would ensue upon a return to the benighted state of his forefathers preceding the American regime.

Unless we mean at this juncture to withdraw from the islands altogether and give to the natives that boon of utter autonomy which, granted prematurely, might prove a bane, the one course to take is to oppose the attempt of Quezon and his following to nullify the work of the man we sent in our name to clean house in the Philippines and save ten millions of natives from the predacious selfishness of their foes in their own turbulent and various family. There can be little doubt of the action that Washington will take to show that we mean business, and not firebrand and firewater politics, in the Philippines. It is to be the rule of schools, hospitals and scientific farming, not of the machete and the head-hunter. The inarticulate "multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision," have already chosen. It is for generous and puissant America to ratify their choice.—Public Ledger.

MR. AND MRS. HARDING TO BE MORE COMFORTABLE NEXT WINTER.

If Warren G. Harding were not President of the United States, with the troubles of the public as his main job, he could sit back this winter and snap his fingers at the high-priced anthracite problem. He could ignore strikes and threats of strikes and warm himself comfortably with heat derived more efficiently and cheaply from soft coal.

In the absence of the President from Washington this summer the White House is undergoing its periodical renovation, the chief feature of which is the installation of a new heating system.

Next winter steam will be furnished the Executive Mansion by the big central heating plant of the State, War and Navy Building at a saving estimated at $3000, with the discontinuance of the wasteful anthracite hot-water system which has been in operation in the White House for the last twenty years. As the result of the excavations now under way for the laying of the pipes the White House grounds resemble the battlefields of France, but the change will not necessitate installation of new pipes and radiators within the mansion.

The old furnaces, which consumed 450 tons of the best grade of anthracite last year and then failed to heat properly several rooms with northern exposures, will be removed. The enormous bins in the basement also will be taken out and the grounds caretakers are jubilant at the prospect of not passing the winter season picking up after coal-wagon drivers who made almost weekly trips to the White House.

IT SOUNDS LIKE THEY ARE GETTING BACK TO NORMALCY

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The County Commissioners, who constitute the county board of equalization, has completed its work and the report shows a total increase of $21,511 over last year. The sum comes mainly as a natural increase of personal property as returned by the citizens to the assessors.

Mr. T. Dales Kyle, of the Citizens National Bank, started on his vacation today and will take in the Greene County Fair this week. One of the biggest and best fairs that Greene County has ever had will occur this week if the present indications amount to anything.

Mr. L. F. Clevenger, who is making a collection of names on rural routes throughout Ohio, to be used by advertisers, has now covered about twenty counties. He will leave this evening for Cleveland to do some work in that locality.

Today's Talk

FAITH, FORTITUDE, FORTUNE

The process of life is one of exchange. The earth gives us of its plenty and some of it serves as food. In turn, this food serves to give us health and strength—out of which ideas spring.

And ideas spread happiness. They give to civilization its best and finest, and keep preparing it for a better step ahead.

But we must enter into the game. We cannot stand around. We are the handlers of the precious seed that is able to give us exceeding great joy.

Faith and fortitude must precede fortune. We have faith. We risk our ideas believing that we cannot fail. And so long as this spirit dominates us, of course we cannot fail. Before we know it, the fortune end of our hopes has taken care of itself.

The important thing in life is not to run away! Learn the lesson. Do the right thing over and over again, until the right thing becomes the natural thing.

Keep that faith of yours uppermost. It alone breeds fortitude. Never mind the fortune. That comes last. And when it does come, it doesn't give happiness as do the faith and fortitude which precede it. A bank only gives to a depositor, what he has put into it, plus what that deposit has earned while it has been in use.

You give all that you have to the thing at hand. Have faith. Walk right thru your mistakes. Without struggle, there can be no satisfaction.

TEMPTATION

There's a lake outside my window that is laughing at the sky. And from the cliffs along the coast the swift-winged swallows fly; The sky is blue this morning and the sun is tempting, too. But I am at my table with a lot of work to do.

There's a pine woods nearby singing now its softest melodies And I catch the faintest humming of theft music on the breeze; I could spend the day exploring nature's wonders ever new. But instead I'm at my table with a lot of work to do.

I know the fish are biting for I saw Paul Strasburg come With a string of bass he'd taken from this region of the Thumb. And off yonder in the distance I can see a boat or two. But a fellow can't go fishing with a lot of work to do.

Should the good Lord in the future ever look at me and ask That all important question: "Was I faithful to my task?" I shall answer, one glad summer in a place He'd built for play, I'd a lot of work before me, and I didn't run away.

Frank W. Stunich, 28, Dayton, confined in the County Jail since Monday when Police Judge E. D. Smith bound him over on a charge of assault with intent to kill, was released on bond, Thursday morning.

Stunich was being under $2,000 bond fixed by Judge Smith, Monday. The bond he furnished Thursday morning was signed by himself, Walter R. Jackson and Nick Perica of Dayton and H. C. Armstrong, of this city, who is Stunich's attorney. The bond was furnished in Common Pleas Court and is on file there.

Stunich immediately left for Dayton after his release, where it is said he will receive hospital treatment for the bullet wound in his face. Officials say he left here with his wife, Mrs. Louise Stunich, who has been here since his arrest. She is said to have driven Stunich to Dayton in her possession since Sunday.

Stunich was arrested near Miamisburg Saturday night after he escaped in his automobile from this city taking with him Chief of Police M. E. Graham who had boarded the car in an attempt to arrest him. He was captured near Miamisburg, after the car was ditched, by Constable E. O. Schramm of that village. Schramm shot Stunich in the left cheek to effecting the arrest. The bullet grazed the left jaw bone.

Stunich's case will be considered by the Grand Jury called in special session by Prosecutor J. K. Williamson to sit next Monday.

CONVALESCENCE OF PRESIDENT WILL BE SLOW

and the physicians today were urging her to get rest and more fresh air than she has been getting. They have told her that she cannot risk having a breakdown at this stage.

One slight upset occurred in the president's improvement. This resulted from his eating two soft boiled eggs, which appeared to be a little too much for his stomach in its present disturbed condition. After eating the eggs, the president complained of pain in the stomach, which was not of long duration. However, it served as a danger signal to the physicians not to attempt to force too much upon him in the way of nourishment until his stomach is fully able to stand it.

Dr. Sawyer was greatly encouraged by the progress being made by the president. He now believes that complete recovery is in sight, although a long period of quiet and rest will be necessary to bring about the president's complete restoration to health. He emphasized the conclusion of the attending physicians that no attempt should be made to remove the president from the Palace hotel, where he is now being cared for, until he is prepared to stand the trip back to Washington.

Attorney General Daugherty, bosom friend of the president, and his manager in the pre-convention campaign which led to the Harding nomination, arrived during the day. He called at the presidential suite, but made no request to see the president, because he felt the president was entitled to all the rest he can get and should not be unnecessarily disturbed.

The attorney general saw Mrs. Harding, however, and spent considerable time talking with her about the president's condition. He was gratified to hear the reports of the president's progress and said he would call upon him as soon as it is felt advisable for the president to receive visitors.

When the attorney general arrived he insisted upon going to another hotel, explaining that he decided to avoid the crush about the president's hotel. Attorney General Daugherty himself is not well and preferred to remain in quiet until the president can see him. He intends to attend to a lot of official business while here, conferring with department of justice officials on various matters in this jurisdiction.

XENIA GOLF TEAM DEFEATS URBANA AT LOCAL COURSE

The Xenia Country Club golf team defeated a 24-man team from the Urbana Country Club in the first inter-city match tournament of the season, 47 to 6 here, Wednesday afternoon.

Xenians took practically all matches, only three Urbana players out-pointing the locals. The players teed off every five minutes on the first, third and seventh tees, so that the matches were run off quickly. C. E. Arbogast acted as starter.

Scoring was done on the Nassau system, the first time used in a match here. Under this system three points are awarded, one for each of the nine holes, and one for the match. Thus a player winning both nines and the match, has three points to none for his opponents. If he wins one nine, halves the other but wins the match for the entire 18 he has two points to none for his opponent.

The feature play of the afternoon was staged by A. L. Regan of the Xenia Club at Hole No. 2. He had started his match with H. Brown of Urbana, at Hole No. 3, which made Hole No. 2, the last on his 18-hole round. Regan and Brown were laying even, but with Brown on the green and Regan lying 35 feet away from the cup. In order to win he sank a 35 foot putt.

Urbana golfers were well pleased with their treatment and all liked the Xenia course, which they considered sporty and kept in good condition. Fifty people were served a cafeteria supper at the Club House afterward, the meal being prepared by Jacob Kany. The Xenia team will play Urbana on the Urbana Course the latter part of August.

GOOD RACES MARK OPENING DAY ON TRACK AT COUNTY FAIR WEDNESDAY

Good races marked the opening day of the Greene County Fair track events Wednesday.

Owing to a large field of starters in the 2:25 pace the event was divided into two sections making four races for the afternoon. The last heat of the 2:11 pace was carried over until Thursday due to the lateness of the hour.

Racing this year is on the point system, recently re-placed in the rules of the American Trotting Association. Under the point system the horse with three firsts wins, but the race terminates after the fifth heat. Money winners figured by adding up the total of the positions they finished in each heat, the speeders with the lowest total taking the money in order.

Between heats riding horses from the Coy. Mead and Tejan stables at Springfield gave exhibitions on a newly built show horse track in the quarter stretch. The Jamestown Boys' Band furnished the musical entertainment. Attendance was good.

THURSDAY EXPECTED TO BE RECORD DAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Although a complete check of attendance at the Greene County Fair Wednesday is not yet available, the crowd was only slightly smaller than last year, according to Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

As last year's Fair holds the records for attendance all three days, Fair officials believe this year's celebration will run attendance records of last year a close second. Good weather Thursday promised another large turnout and with the streets of Xenia crowded early in the morning, a record attendance was predicted.

RED WING FIRM SUFFERS LOSS IN PT. WILLIAM FIRE

The Red Wing Corporation, was also a loser in the fire that destroyed part of the village of Port William, according to Floyd Allen, vice president and general manager.

The corporation owned considerable equipment in the postoffice, where Postmaster James Ellis also conducts a confectionery. A number of cabinets, pop cases and ice cream freezers were destroyed, besides the pop and ice cream they contained.

The heat was so intense when the small, one-story frame structure was burned that pop bottles melted. Ellis moved the mail and some other property from the building before it burned.

While firemen from Wilmington and volunteers were fighting the flames, Ellis met the owner of a building across the street from his former location who had an empty room for rent. He rented the store room, and moved the equipment taken from the burning building directly into the empty storeroom where he was ready for business by daylight.

NATALIE TELLS BEVERLY RAINS- FORD

Chapter LXII

Only Beverly Rainsford knew of Natalie's plan. When she was told she made no effort to hide her surprise or delight.

"I am afraid I could not have been so generous," Beverly said. "But you are right, Natalie. It will make your whole future life happier. Even should she refuse you have done all and more than Horace could expect in offering to return to her home. He will always love you for it."

Perhaps naturally, Beverly's approval made Natalie happier over what she had done. While they were fast friends Natalie still looked up to Beverly, still thought her a perfect model of womanhood; still longed to be like her.

Unknown to either Horace or Natalie, Beverly also wrote Mrs. Crandell. She said nothing of her knowledge of their having written urging her to return, but in her letter she told of Natalie's improvement, her sweetness, her desire to make Horace happy. By a quirk of fate her letter arrived first, and Mrs. Crandell, reading, felt more kindly toward Natalie than ever she had before. Surely she could rely on Beverly's judgment. Beverly was most fastidious, would be the first to notice if Horace were not happy with his plebeian wife.

Then followed the combined letters of Horace and Natalie. As Mrs. Crandell read what Natalie had written, her cheeks flushed, but in spite of her self-control her hands trembled. Then she read what her son had written—the son to whom she had devoted her life, and whom she had loved so devotedly, if selfishly.

"Can I?" she asked herself. "Can I go back? Will he be the same? Will my home be the same with her in it? Or will it be only a repetition of what went on before she left him?" Then, after a bit, "Can I—do my part?" I am a selfish old woman. Can I give way to her?"

Mrs. Crandell laid the letters aside. There was no hurry. She would take her time to think things over before she replied. She could never endure another break. She was getting old. If she were to go back, she must stay. And could she and Natalie live in the same house in harmony? Natalie now knew what it meant to have a home of her own. Would she willingly step aside and allow her to take the reins?

And, although she had decided to take her time in answering, Horace's mother thought of nothing else. She longed with a longing that was almost pain, so fierce was it, to return. She had missed her accustomed surroundings, her friends, more than she had admitted to herself. The thought of ending her days among strangers had been almost unbearable, yet this was what she had decided to do. She must feel that she had not made Horace unhappy. Like Natalie, it was of Horace she thought. Her giving back his promise had been for her the supreme sacrifice.

Mrs. Crandell's fear, her anxiety, her worry, affected her health. Not yet entirely recovered from her serious illness, she worried her friends and her physician by her lassitude, her lack of interest in what went on about her. Her mother-love and her desires each cried out for satisfaction. She had seen Horace's unhappiness when separated from Natalie, knew he never would be content were Natalie not happy. Yet would she be happy if she no longer possessed him entirely?

She finally wrote refusing to return, but could not bring herself to send the letter, and after several days tore it up. Then she wrote others accepting their plan, only to destroy them.

"There is no hurry, I have three months in which to decide," she told herself, and wrote saying she had received their letters, and would consider what she wished to do.

"I will let you know before your return to town," Mrs. Crandell wrote. "I have made friends over here, am comfortably situated." Then feeling she had been ungrateful she added: "Thank you both for your thought of me. It was most kind."

When Natalie received this letter she felt she had a new lease of life. Her depression vanished and she was almost wildly gay. Perhaps, Mrs. Crandell would not come and after all she had done her duty, all Horace could expect, in asking her.

Yet she knew Horace was troubled by his mother's reception of their plan and strove constantly to make him feel he had lost nothing of his happiness should she refuse to join them. Tomorrow—At a Quiet Summer Resort

CONVALESCENCE OF PRESIDENT WILL BE SLOW

Harding Started On Long
Road to Complete
Recovery

PUBLIC IS WARNED

Told Not to Accept Belief
That Chief Will Speedily
Get Well.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—President Harding had another restful night and continued to make marked improvement today on his road to recovery, it was announced at 8 o'clock this morning by Dr. Charles F. Sawyer.

The president awoke early this morning after a refreshing sleep without any traces of fever whatever. His temperature at 8 o'clock was 98.6, his respiration 36 and his pulse 110, reflecting improvement on all points over the previous medical bulletin issued late yesterday.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—President Harding started in today on what Dr. Charles F. Sawyer, his chief physician, termed "the long difficult road to convalescence."

The President is officially "out of the woods" in his battle against the combination of diseases which have kept him bedfast since Saturday but the concern of the doctors is to maintain the ground gained during the last few days.

"The road to convalescence is a long, tedious one," said Dr. Sawyer. "We are likely to have our ups and downs and anything is liable to happen."

Dr. Sawyer said the public should be warned against accepting the rapid recovery made to date as indicative that the President is going to speedily become well. He terms the progress today as "very satisfactory" and "fortunate" and his caution today was against "overconfidence."

Every indication this morning pointed to the President's having made further progress on the road to recovery. He went to sleep shortly before midnight and at four a. m. he was away," explained Secretary reports from the sick room indicated he was still sleeping.

This restful sleep which the President has succeeded in getting for the last few nights has been perhaps the most valuable single aid in restoring the President to the stage which the doctors term convalescence. The sleep has largely overcome the nervous exhaustion which Mr. Harding was suffering from to a marked degree when he arrived in San Francisco. The more he can sleep, the doctors said today, the more rapid will be his complete recovery.

Mr. Harding himself is feeling so fit that he has already begun to feel a little impatient at remaining long in San Francisco. He said to Dr. Sawyer last night:

"What do you think about getting away on Sunday?"

Dr. Sawyer's reply was non-committal but it is very doubtful if any attempt will be made to move for a week at least. The progress to date has been so satisfactory and the President has been so comfortable that the physicians are chary of inviting a setback through over-eagerness to get the chief executive back to the White House.

The "lung condition" referred to in the official bulletins in continuing to improve. This refers to the white patches indicating broncho-pneumonia and their appearance made at night in the clinical examination later confirmed in the x-ray examination, all along has been the most menacing and alarming factor in the President's case. These patches are now clearing up and virtually all danger of pneumonia has now fled.

The great job ahead of the physicians today, they said, lies in building up the President's strength by slow and easy stages. There is no royal or easy road to this improvement. Dr. Sawyer said and anything precipitate or hurried is likely to lose in a few hours the ground gained over several tedious days. The President's digestive abilities are still badly impaired as a result of the poisons from the ptomaine attack and the purgatives administered so freely during the first few days of his illness and they require "nursing along."

Mrs. Harding is beginning to show slightly the strain she has been under during the past week. So long as the President's condition was considered "grave" she bore up with a fortitude considered remarkable in view of her own state of health. But now that the convalescence stage has been reached, she appeared tired.

OPTIMISTIC REPORT OF CONDITION OF PRESIDENT GIVEN

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 2.—By far the most optimistic bulletin that has yet emanated from President Harding's sick room was issued at 9:50 o'clock Pacific coast time, this morning by the staff of five attending physicians.

They announced that the President had a restful night and that his condition today showed marked improvement over yesterday.

The pneumonic condition which was a source of chief concern to the doctors, showed definite improvement today, and pulse and respiration more nearly approached normal.

"While recovery will inevitably take some little time," the bulletin concluded, "we are more confident than heretofore as to the outcome of his illness."

The physicians found the chief executive with no temperature whatever, with his pulse, which has been abnormally high, dropped down to 100 and with respiration, which also was abnormally high, considerably reduced and regular.

"POLITICAL BUNK" SAYS DONAHUE OF STORY OF CONVICTS

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—"The whole affair is a 'frameup' inspired by political enemies of the Governor," declared J. A. Meestroth, secretary to Governor Donahue here today, commenting on the controversy resulting from the action of the Governor in taking two life prisoners from the Ohio Penitentiary into Canada, to act as cook and chauffeur for the Governor and his party on a two weeks' fishing vacation at Cobouk, Ontario.

Ward Thomas, of the Ohio Penitentiary, is a member of the Governor's party.

"A signed pardon for Earl Jennings, the chauffeur, is in the Governor's desk. It was signed just before the Governor left for Canada, further progress on the road to recovery. He went to sleep shortly before midnight and at four a. m. he was away," explained Secretary reports from the sick room indicated he was still sleeping.

"We anticipated this attack on the part of the Governor's enemies. The whole question can be settled by the Governor pardoning the men on appeal, if necessary. I believe he will spot it out, or come home with them, should they by any chance, be deported."

"In view of the fact that Governor Donahue and Warden Thomas are personally responsible for the prisoners, who have both been trustees for years, the people of Canada are in no way endangered by the presence of Jennings and Zaprana, the prisoners," continued Secretary Meestroth.

Attorney General Crabbe has not indicated that he will take any action in the matter.

Secretary Meestroth, who is awaiting word from Governor Donahue, expected today, voiced belief that the presence of the two Ohio prisoners in Canada does not constitute any violation of the spirit of the provision of immigration laws of that country, decreeing deportation of persons possessing criminal records.

Secretary Meestroth expressed belief that the fact that the prisoners are in custody of both Governor Donahue and Warden Thomas, while in Canada and that both prisoners rendered years of satisfactory service as "trustees" while prisoners, warrant the confidence now being placed in them by the Governor and Warden and constitute ample guarantee against any probability that their presence in Canada might endanger, in the slightest degree, the welfare of Canadian residents.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 2.—Governor Donahue, of Ohio, in an interview with the Toronto Star Wednesday characterized as "political bunk" the prominence given the news that two convicts were accompanying his fishing party in northern Ontario, as servants.

The "lung condition" referred to in the official bulletins in continuing to improve. This refers to the white patches indicating broncho-pneumonia and their appearance made at night in the clinical examination later confirmed in the x-ray examination, all along has been the most menacing and alarming factor in the President's case. These patches are now clearing up and virtually all danger of pneumonia has now fled.

The great job ahead of the physicians today, they said, lies in building up the President's strength by slow and easy stages. There is no royal or easy road to this improvement. Dr. Sawyer said and anything precipitate or hurried is likely to lose in a few hours the ground gained over several tedious days. The President's digestive abilities are still badly impaired as a result of the poisons from the ptomaine attack and the purgatives administered so freely during the first few days of his illness and they require "nursing along."

Mrs. Harding is beginning to show slightly the strain she has been under during the past week. So long as the President's condition was considered "grave" she bore up with a fortitude considered remarkable in view of her own state of health. But now that the convalescence stage has been reached, she appeared tired.

SUITOR, WHO ANNOYED HER, SLAIN

Miss Jane Remington.

Miss Jane Remington, beautiful amateur actress, of Morris, Ill., complained to the police there that Blaine Beach, a wealthy Joliet merchant, with whom she had been friendly, but from whom she had become estranged, was annoying her with his attentions. When he appeared near her home at night recently a deputy sheriff was sent to investigate. The officer thought Beach reached for a revolver and shot him to death.

MAN SWIMS ACROSS LAKE ERIE COVERING MORE THAN 33 MILES

Cleveland Y. M. C. A. Swimmer Remains in Water for 21
Hours and 45 Minutes—Suffers Severe
Pains in Legs.

Lorain, O., Aug. 2.—The gasoline yacht Argus, with her five passengers safe and well, arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. The boat had been lost in a fog on the lake and trouble with the engine also developed.

Lorain, O., Aug. 2.—Carbis Walker, Cleveland, Y. M. C. A. swimmer, landed here this morning after having swam across Lake Erie from Point Pelee, Ontario, a distance of 33 miles. It was the first time a swimmer had ever performed the feat.

Walker landed at 5:15. He went to sleep immediately but awakened four hours later complaining of severe pains in his legs.

"I will never attempt it again," he said as he awoke.

Following Walker's safe arrival, an airplane piloted by William Long, of Lorain, put out from this port in an effort to locate the launch Argus, which was at first reported as accompanying Walker and the rowboat carrying his five companions. The Argus had not been seen by any members of the arriving party and it was feared she might be lost or disabled and her six passengers drowned.

On the launch are Charles D. Siders, commander of the Cleveland Yacht club, H. T. Lambers, fleet surgeon and Ray Gibbons, M. F. Ranney and George Durthick, Cleveland newspapermen.

The Argus put out from Put-in-Bay. It is a 30 foot cabin cruiser, propelled by gasoline engines.

When Walker arrived, he was accompanied by a rowboat containing five persons. Although in an air line, the distance is but 33 miles, Walker covered a much greater distance in accomplishing his record breaking feat. The sun and moon

STATE RE-OPENS CASE TO PLACE NEW EVIDENCE

Rusted Revolver Introduced
As Testimony at Whit-
field Trial.

BOYS FIND WEAPON

Said To Have Been Carried
By Cleveland Policeman
When Murdered

Cleveland, O., Aug. 2.—The state was permitted to re-open its case to place in evidence the rusted revolver carried by Patrolman Dennis Griffin on the morning of May 11, when he met death in the automobile owned and driven by John L. Whitfield, who is now on trial charged with murder, before Judge Frank C. Phillips and a jury in Common Pleas Court here.

The weapon found by three barefoot lads as they played beside a creek at Maple Heights yesterday, was brought into court but it was not introduced in evidence until after a long legal battle between attorneys for the state and defense. The defense at first objected but finally Attorney Arthur H. Day suggested that the defense would withdraw its witness offered late yesterday and the state be permitted to proceed as though its case had not been closed.

The lads, who found the gun were in court in their bare feet today. They told about their find and when one of them said that they afterwards buried it beside the road, Judge Phillips interjected:

"You did that so the owner might forget about it and then when you dug it up again it would be yours?"

The boy nodded confirmation and the judge continued aside:

"I used to do that very thing myself."

Court was late in opening, a number of minor criminal cases engaging the attention of Judge Phillips until nearly noon. It then appeared doubtful as to whether it would be possible for the state to complete its case until late in the afternoon.

CASE REACHES OHIO HIGHEST COURT

An action for partition, titled Olivia May Judy and others against James May Trolinger, and others, which has been involved in considerable litigation in Greene County Common Pleas Court and the Court of Appeals has reached the State Supreme Court.

A motion for an order directing the Greene County Appellate Court to certify its record in the case was filed with the State Supreme Court Monday. Hearing on the motion has not been held.

"The case was carried to the Court of Appeals by Olivia May Judy and others on error except as to Florence Martin, nee Judy, who denied being a party defendant to the original action. As to her claim the Court of Appeals reserved judgment of the lower court and remanded the case with instructions to overrule her demurrer to the reply and for further proceedings.

The case is an action by the heirs at law of Martha J. Judy to recover certain real estate in possession of James C. Trolinger.

ENFORCE BLUE LAWS OF STATE

Virgil Fitch, prosecuting attorney of Mason County, Mich., has a way of getting at puritanically-minded women of his county who insisted that dance halls should be closed on Sunday. Mr. Fitch promptly began a study of every blue law on the statute books of Michigan and began applying them with a vengeance in Ludington, the county seat, and the rest of the county. "What's fair for one is fair for all," he asserts. The first person he was called upon to prosecute was his own son, charged with dancing on Sunday.

APATHY AMONG WOMEN IS SEEN

Washington, Aug. 2.—Apathy noted by political leaders among the men of the country on the world court question likewise extends to the women voters, according to Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, head of the women's branch of the Republican national committee. Mrs. Upton stated that during a trip she has just completed through nine states of the middle west and south she found the women to be paying very little attention to the court proposal. "The women seem to be very little interested in this question," she said. "They know the senate is going to mull around with it anyhow, regardless of what the women think. My observation was that the women of the states I visited were taking a little more interest in the question of an adequate American merchant marine than in the court. They have been talking about a merchant marine some, although not a great deal. There is no doubt American women want to see the country maintain a merchant marine commensurate with its needs."

Both statesmen declared that the French and Belgian replies to the British note held out no hope for a joint answer to the German reparations offer of June 7 or an early settlement of the problem. Curzon and Baldwin said that Great Britain will publish her reparations notes showing the world her endeavors to bring about a settlement.

Hope was expressed that this action might convince the world of the imperative necessity for prompt and united action.

The statements showed today that Great Britain has determined upon a more aggressive policy. In announcing the decision to make public Great Britain's notes, Lord Curzon said:

"His Majesty's government entertains the hope that the publication of these papers might assist in determining the real dimensions of the problem with which the Allies are confronted and might convince the world of the imperative necessity for prompt and united action to deal with it."

GREAT BRITAIN ASKS WORLD AID ON REPARATIONS

To Make Appeal to Force
Settlement of German
Indemnity Problem

NEED PROMPT ACTION

England Has Determined
Upon More Aggressive
Policy Toward Issue

London, August 2.—Official statements made in parliament today indicated that Great Britain will appeal to the world to force a settlement of the Ruhr reparations issue. It is possible this may prove the first step toward independent British action. The allied negotiations are deadlocked and the British are seeking outside pressure to force France to show her hand.

Premier Baldwin, in the House of Commons and Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon in the House of Lords made identical statement upon the reparations problem. They did not reveal whether Great Britain intends to negotiate separately with Germany and both avoided mentioning the possibility of a break with France.

The statements indicated Great Britain would await world reaction to today's invitation before taking the next step.

TWO SETS OF VIEWS

While the British, French and Belgian reparations notes have not been made public, it is understood that the two sets of views contrast as follows:

France:—Demands cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr before reparations negotiations are opened; insists upon retention of French troops in the Ruhr until Germany pays; opposes the appointment of an international commission to fix the exact amount of indemnity Germany must pay.

England:—Suggests appointment of an international tribunal to fix the exact amount of Germany reparations and the method of payment; favors a more lenient policy towards Germany economically and the restoration of German industries and mills to enable the Germans to get on their feet.

Both statesmen declared that the French and Belgian replies to the British note held out no hope for a joint answer to the German reparations offer of June 7 or an early settlement of the problem. Curzon and Baldwin said that Great Britain will publish her reparations notes showing the world her endeavors to bring about a settlement.

Hope was expressed that this action might convince the world of the imperative necessity for prompt and united action.

Styles BY LENORE

Many opportunities for attractive summer costumes are offered by the vogue of the bright blue jacket worn with white skirts or with straight-line dresses in delicate colors. Typical of these is the model shown in the cut, which a smart young woman wore at a country club. The jacket, is a vivid green, made of flannel, and the skirt is white. Another young woman favored the same idea, wearing over a pale yellow frock a short jacket similar to this one, but in a deep Chinese blue that was the outstanding note of the vicinity. In each instance the hat was a felt cloche which matched the color of the coat.

For a cool day in the country, and as a change to the sweater, a slip-over blouse of serge or flannel, in white or colors, is shown in a Fifth Avenue shop. It is made with pink scalloped edges.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., B4 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Into these 1924 cars are built every proved feature in design that makes for the comfort, convenience and safety of passengers, and many refinements that further enhance the value of a line of cars already highly perfected.

It is common knowledge in the steel industry that Studebaker uses only the highest grades of the finest steels. And the same is true of the electrical equipment, instruments, bearings, batteries, upholstery, finishing paints, tires and accessories used in Studebaker cars.

It is equally well known that Studebaker, with $90,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plant facilities, is unsurpassed in ability and

Produced under these favorable conditions, the 1924 Studebakers are distinctly the finest cars and greatest values Studebaker ever offered.

THE REAL ISSUE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

It is essential to a clear understanding of the Philippine situation to emphasize the fact that what America has done for the Philippines has been accomplished with the constant admission of the natives themselves to co-operation, participation and actual administration, as they have revealed themselves progressing in knowledge and ability. There has not been an arbitrary imposition of extraneous authority; the consent and aid of the governed have been earnestly sought as that consent and aid became intelligent.

The mass of the people of the islands recognize the benefits of American rule. The establishment of law and order, with respect for life and the right to property, is one of the first advantages that are due to the American protectorate. The population of the wilder islands, "half devil and half child," have been brought under a reign of law they never knew. There has been a phenomenal achievement in sanitation, which has meant deliverance from the pests of smallpox, bubonic plague and cholera and the segregation and partial cure of lepers. A sound and thorough system of education has been installed. The judiciary scheme has been recast and the monetary system has been stabilized on a gold basis. Roads have been built and agriculture has been enormously stimulated, so that in the first decade and a half of American rule the exports were quadrupled.

Not one of these things has been accomplished without the determined and protracted resistance of politicians who found their occupation gone under the new order. When General Wood took hold he had to face not merely the cumulative abuses but the individual abuse. The self-anointed protagonist of "the people's cause" has been Manuel Quezon, president of the Senate—able, unscrupulous, eloquent—who has come out openly against the "strong, tyrannical foreigner," and promises that no appointment made by Wood will be confirmed by the Senate when it convenes next October. The issue is simply who shall be the real head of the Government—the man who impersonates and perpetuates all the good the United States has accomplished for the Philippines in a quarter of a century or the man whose authorized ascendancy will mean the return of the Filipinos to the mire of bloody revolution and sinister machination, of graft and loot, of rank selfishness masquerading as lofty patriotism from which the United States was bringing the islands out of ignorant heathendom to enlightened civilization.

Quezon has been sniping at Wood in ambush from the first. His recent action in procuring from a sycophantic Legislature the demand for Wood's recall is merely the capstone of his offending, in logical sequence, to all that went before. He and those siding with him fail to see that the first and surest way for the Filipinos to take if they wish to prove themselves fit for complete self-government is not the way of threats, intimidation and bloody violence, but the way of sobriety and industry, of co-operation in administration, of earnest support of the social, industrial and economic evolution of the islanders. The true Filipino patriot is bound to recognize the gains that have been made and the losses that would ensue upon a return to the benighted state of his forefathers preceding the American regime.

Unless we mean at this juncture to withdraw from the islands altogether and give to the natives that boon of utter autonomy which, granted prematurely, might prove a bane, the one course to take is to oppose the attempt of Quezon and his following to nullify the work of the man we sent in our name to clean house in the Philippines and save ten millions of natives from the predacious selfishness of their foes in their own turbulent and various family. There can be little doubt of the action that Washington will take to show that we mean business, and not firebrand and firewater politics, in the Philippines. It is to be the rule of schools, hospitals and scientific farming, not of the machete and the head-hunter. The inarticulate "multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision," have already chosen. It is for generous and puissant America to ratify their choice.—Public Ledger.

MR. AND MRS. HARDING TO BE MORE COMFORTABLE NEXT WINTER.

If Warren G. Harding were not President of the United States, with the troubles of the public as his main job, he could sit back this winter and snap his fingers at the high-priced anthracite problem. He could ignore strikes and threats of strikes and warm himself comfortably with heat derived more efficiently and cheaply from soft coal.

In the absence of the President from Washington this summer the White House is undergoing its periodical renovation, the chief feature of which is the installation of a new heating system.

Next winter steam will be furnished the Executive Mansion by the big central heating plant of the State, War and Navy Building at a saving estimated at $3000, with the discontinuance of the wasteful anthracite hot-water system which has been in operation in the White House for the last twenty years. As the result of the excavations now under way for the laying of the pipes the White House grounds resemble the battlefields of France, but the change will not necessitate installation of new pipes and radiators within the mansion.

The old furnaces, which consumed 450 tons of the best grade of anthracite last year and then failed to heat properly several rooms with northern exposures, will be removed. The enormous bins in the basement also will be taken out and the grounds caretakers are jubilant at the prospect of not passing the winter season picking up after coal-wagon drivers who made almost weekly trips to the White House.

One of the biggest and best fairs that Greene County has ever had will occur this week if the present indications amount to anything.

Today's Talk

FAITH, FORTITUDE, FORTUNE

The process of life is one of exchange. The earth gives us of its plenty and some of it serves as food. In turn, this food serves to give us health and strength—out of which ideas spring.

And ideas spread happiness. They give to civilization its best and finest, and keep preparing it for a better step ahead.

But we must enter into the game. We cannot stand around. We are the handlers of the precious seed that is able to give us exceeding great joy.

Faith and fortitude must precede fortune.

We have faith. We risk our ideas believing that we cannot fail. And so long as this spirit dominates us, of course we cannot fail. Before we know it, the fortune end of our hopes has taken care of itself.

The important thing in life is not to run away!

Learn the lesson. Do the right thing over and over again, until the right thing becomes the natural thing.

Keep that faith of yours uppermost. It alone breeds fortitude.

Never mind the fortune. That comes last. And when it does come, it doesn't give happiness as do the faith and fortitude which precede it.

A bank only gives to a depositor, what he has put into it, plus what that deposit has earned while it has been in use.

You give all that you have to the thing at hand. Have faith. Walk right thru your mistakes. Without struggle, there can be no satisfaction.

TEMPTATION
There's a lake outside my window that is laughing at the sky. And from the cliffs along the coast the swift-winged swallows fly; The sky is blue this morning and the sun is tempting, too. But I am at my table with a lot of work to do.

There's a pine woods nearby singing now its softest melodies And I catch the faintest humming of their music on the breeze; I could spend the day exploring nature's wonders ever new. But instead I'm at my table with a lot of work to do.

I know the fish are biting for I saw Paul Strasburg come With a string of bass he'd taken from this region of the Thumb. And off yonder in the distance I can see a boat or two. But a fellow can't go fishing with a lot of work to do.

Should the good Lord in the future ever look at me and ask That all important question: "Was I faithful to my task?" I shall answer, one glad summer in a place He'd built for play, I'd a lot of work before me, and I didn't run away.

STUNICH BAILED OUT ON THURSDAY— LEAVES FOR DAYTON

Frank W. Stunich, 28, Dayton, confined in the County Jail since Monday when Police Judge E. D. Smith bound him over on a charge of assault with intent to kill, was released on bond, Thursday morning.

Stunich was being under $2,000 bond fixed by Judge Smith, Monday. The bond he furnished Thursday morning was signed by himself, Walter R. Jackson and Nick Perica of Dayton and H. C. Armstrong, of this city, who is Stunich's attorney. The bond was furnished in Common Pleas Court and is on file there.

Stunich immediately left for Dayton after his release, where it is said he will receive hospital treatment for the bullet wound in his face. Officials say he left here with his wife, Mrs. Louise Stunich, who has been here since his arrest. She is said to have driven Stunich to Dayton in her machine, which she has had in her possession since Sunday.

Stunich was arrested near Miamisburg Saturday night after he escaped in his automobile from this city taking with him Chief of Police M. E. Graham who had boarded the car in an attempt to arrest him. He was captured near Miamisburg, after the car was ditched, by Constable E. O. Schramm of that village. Schramm shot Stunich in the left cheek to effecting the arrest. The bullet grazed the left jaw bone.

Stunich's case will be considered by the Grand Jury called in special session by Prosecutor J. K. Williamson to sit next Monday.

CONVALESCENCE OF PRESIDENT WILL BE SLOW

and the physicians today were urging her to get rest and more fresh air than she has been getting. They have told her that she cannot risk having a breakdown at this stage.

One slight upset occurred in the president's improvement. This resulted from his eating two soft boiled eggs, which appeared to be a little too much for his stomach in its present disturbed condition. After eating the eggs, the president complained of pain in the stomach, which was not of long duration. However, it served as a danger signal to the physicians not to attempt to force too much upon him in the way of nourishment until his stomach is fully able to stand it.

Dr. Sawyer was greatly encouraged by the progress being made by the president. He now believes that complete recovery is in sight, although a long period of quiet and rest will be necessary to bring about the president's complete restoration to health. He emphasized the conclusion of the attending physicians that no attempt should be made to remove the president from the Palace hotel, where he is now being cared for, until he is prepared to stand the trip back to Washington.

Attorney General Daugherty, bosom friend of the president, and his manager in the pre-convention campaign which led to the Harding nomination, arrived during the day. He called at the presidential suite, but made no request to see the president, because he felt the president was entitled to all the rest he can get and should not be unnecessarily disturbed.

The attorney general saw Mrs. Harding, however, and spent considerable time talking with her about the president's condition. He was gratified to hear the reports of the president's progress and said he would call upon him as soon as it is felt advisable for the president to receive visitors.

When the attorney general arrived he insisted upon going to another hotel, explaining that he decided to avoid the crush about the president's hotel. Attorney General Daugherty himself is not well and preferred to remain in quiet until the president can see him. He intends to attend to a lot of official business while here, conferring with department of justice officials on various matters in this jurisdiction.

XENIA GOLF TEAM DEFEATS URBANA AT LOCAL COURSE

The Xenia Country Club golf team defeated a 24-man team from the Urbana Country Club in the first inter-city match tournament of the season, 47 to 6 here, Wednesday afternoon.

Xenians took practically all matches, only three Urbana players out-pointing the locals. The players teed off every five minutes on the first, third and seventh tees, so that the matches were run off quickly. C. E. Arbogast acted as starter.

Scoring was done on the Nassau system, the first time used in a match here. Under this system three points are awarded, one for each of the nine holes, and one for the match. Thus a player winning both nines and the match, has three points to none for his opponents. If he wins one nine, halves the other but wins the match for the entire 18 he has two points to none for his opponent.

The feature play of the afternoon was staged by A. L. Regan of the Xenia Club at Hole No. 2. He had started his match with H. Brown of Urbana, at Hole No. 3, which made Hole No. 2, the last on his 18-hole round. Regan and Brown were laying even, but with Brown on the green and Regan lying 35 feet away from the cup. In order to win he sank a 35 foot putt.

Urbana golfers were well pleased with their treatment and all liked the Xenia course, which they considered sporty and kept in good condition. Fifty people were served a cafeteria supper at the Club House afterward, the meal being prepared by Jacob Kany. The Xenia team will play Urbana on the Urbana Course the latter part of August.

GOOD RACES MARK OPENING DAY ON TRACK AT COUNTY FAIR WEDNESDAY

* Good races marked the opening day of the Greene County Fair track events Wednesday.

Owing to a large field of starters in the 2:25 pace the event was divided into two sections making four races for the afternoon. The last heat of the 2:11 pace was carried over until Thursday due to the lateness of the hour.

GLOOM DESCENDS ON QUARTER-STRETCH AS BETTING OFF

Gloom descended on the quarter-stretch at the race track of the Greene County Fairgrounds, Wednesday, when the presence of sheriff's deputies made it known there would be no betting on the races this year. Although visiting bookmakers were present to give the boys plenty of excitement, the word had been passed around that the usual betting would be wiped off the slate this year, and the "bookies" were idly and fretful.

Racing fans, who can not get a kick out of the harness speeders without a little green on the nose, stamped around in the hot and dusty quarter-stretch indignantly. Betting men say the order is a novelty here. Bookmaking has been frowned upon in the past but not disturbed. Sheriff's deputies say they are working under orders from the Greene County Agricultural Society, better known as the Fair Board. Sheriff Morris Sharp, Chief Deputy John Baughn and a number of special deputies were busy in the betting suppressing work.

CLIFTON

The Rev. Mr. Haerr, of Christiansburg will preach at the Methodist Church, Sunday morning. Baptism will take place at the dam, in the afternoon.

SPRING VALLEY

Miss Margaret Weller has entered Wilmington College, for a six weeks course.

WILBERFORCE

Miss Mary Reedy and Vernetta Deatherage of Wilberforce, left Sunday for Richmond, Kentucky, where they will spend four weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner and other relatives in Kentucky.

vided into two sections making four races for the afternoon. The last heat of the 2:11 pace was carried over until Thursday due to the lateness of the hour.

Racing this year is on the point system, recently re-placed in the rules of the American Trotting Association. Under the point system the horse with three firsts wins, but the race terminates after the fifth heat. Money winners figured by adding up the total of the positions they finished in each heat, the speeders with the lowest total taking the money in order.

Between heats riding horses from the Coy. Mead and Tejan stables at Springfield gave exhibitions on a newly built show horse track in the quarter stretch. The Jamestown Boys' Band furnished the musical entertainment. Attendance was good.

burned just before the R. L. Dollings Company, of Ohio, was placed in the hands of receivers is the testimony submitted here today by Paul A. DeLong, Columbus banker and one of the receivers of the Dollings Company and four of its subsidiaries.

Columbus, Aug. 2.—The books of the Phoenix Portland Cement Company, of Ohio, a subsidiary of the R.

L. Dollings Company, of Ohio, are expected to be introduced today at the hearing before Common Pleas Judge Easton, relative to the application for appointment of a receiver. Testimony of William Benham, president; and Dwight Harrison, vice president of the Ohio Dollings Company, both of Columbus, at the hearing late yesterday developed that each of them received an annual salary of $32,000; that employees of the R. L. Dollings Company were dummy directors in the cement company; that dividends for subsidiary companies had been paid out of funds of the R. L. Dollings Company; that books of subsidiary companies had been removed from the office of the Dollings Company and that an arrangement had been made for the Dollings Company to buy certain plants of the Phoenix Portland Cement Company of Pennsylvania operating plants at Birmingham, Ala. and Nazareth, Pa.

THURSDAY EXPECTED TO BE RECORD DAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Although a complete check of attendance at the Greene County Fair Wednesday is not yet available, the crowd was only slightly smaller than last year, according to Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

As last year's fair holds the records for attendance all three days, fair officials believe this year's celebration will run attendance records of last year a close second. Good weather Thursday promised another large turnout and with the streets of Xenia crowded early in the morning, a record attendance was predicted.

What is believed to be the first cheese ever made in Greene County is being manufactured this week at the County Fair.

J. J. Van Raalt, who came here from Holland about a year ago and is superintendent of the dairy farm of P. H. Flynn and Son at Trebains is making the cheese in an exhibit at the fair.

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women Who Rely upon
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger. And I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework for a family of seven now. I will be glad to answer any woman who writes me in regard to my case."—Mrs. JOHN MYERS, 55 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine.

Many times they state in their letters their willingness to answer women who write them. It is an offer dictated by gratitude and a desire to help others.

RED WING FIRM SUFFERS LOSS IN PT. WILLIAM FIRE

The Red Wing Corporation, was also a loser in the fire that destroyed part of the village of Port William, according to Floyd Allen, vice president and general manager.

The corporation owned considerable equipment in the postoffice, where Postmaster James Ellis also conducts a confectionery. A number of cabinets, pop cases and ice cream freezers were destroyed, besides the pop and ice cream they contained.

The heat was so intense when the small, one-story frame structure was burned that pop bottles melted. Ellis moved the mail and some other property from the building before it burned.

While firemen from Wilmington and volunteers were fighting the flames, Ellis met the owner of a building across the street from his former location who had an empty room for rent. He rented the store room, and moved the equipment taken from the burning building directly into the empty storeroom where he was ready for business by daylight.

NATALIE TELLS BEVERLY RAINS- FORD

Chapter LXII
Only Beverly Rainsford knew of Natalie's plan. When she was told she made no effort to hide her surprise or delight.

"I am afraid I could not have been so generous," Beverly said. "But you are right, Natalie. It will make your whole future life happier. Even should she refuse you have done all and more than Horace could expect in offering to return to her home. He will always love you for it."

Perhaps naturally, Beverly's approval made Natalie happier over what she had done. While they were fast friends Natalie still looked up to Beverly, still thought her a perfect model of womanhood; still longed to be like her.

Unknown to either Horace or Natalie, Beverly also wrote Mrs. Crandell. She said nothing of her knowledge of their having written urging her to return, but in her letter she told of Natalie's improvement, her sweetness, her desire to make Horace happy. By a quirk of fate her letter arrived first, and Mrs. Crandell, reading, felt more kindly toward Natalie than ever she had before. Surely she could rely on Beverly's judgment. Beverly was most tactful, would be the first to notice if Horace were not happy with his plebeian wife.

Then followed the combined letters of Horace and Natalie. As Mrs. Crandell read what Natalie had written, her cheeks flushed, but in spite of her self-control her hands trembled. Then she read what her son had written—the son to whom she had devoted her life, and whom she had loved so devotedly, if selfishly.

"Can I?" she asked herself. "Can I go back? Will he be the same? Will my home be the same with her in it? Or will it be only a repetition of what went on before she left him?" Then, after a bit, "Can I—do my part?" I am a selfish old woman. Can I give way to her?"

Mrs. Crandell laid the letters aside. There was no hurry. She would take her time to think things over before she replied. She could never endure another break. She was getting old. If she were to go back, she must stay. And could she and Natalie live in the same house in harmony? Natalie now knew what it meant to have a home of her own. Would she willingly step aside and allow her to take the reins?

And, although she had decided to take her time in answering, Horace's mother thought of nothing else. She longed with a longing that was almost pain so fierce was it, to return. She had missed her accustomed surroundings, her friends, more than she had admitted to herself. The thought of ending her days among strangers had been almost unbearable, yet this was what she had decided to do. She must feel that she had not made Horace unhappy. Like Natalie, it was of Horace's improvement, her sweetness, her desire to make Horace happy. By a quirk of fate her letter arrived first, and Mrs. Crandell, reading, felt more kindly toward Natalie than ever she had before. Surely she could rely on Beverly's judgment. Beverly was most tactful, would be the first to notice if Horace were not happy with his plebeian wife.

Then followed the combined letters of Horace and Natalie. As Mrs. Crandell read what Natalie had written, her cheeks flushed, but in spite of her self-control her hands trembled. Then she read what her son had written—the son to whom she had devoted her life, and whom she had loved so devotedly, if selfishly.

"Can I?" she asked herself. "Can I go back? Will he be the same? Will my home be the same with her in it? Or will it be only a repetition of what months in which to decide," she told herself, and wrote saying she had received their letters, and would consider what she wished to do.

"I will let you know before your return to town," Mrs. Crandell wrote. "I have made friends over here, am comfortably situated." Then feeling she had been ungrateful she added: "Thank you both for your thought of me. It was most kind."

When Natalie received this letter she felt she had a new lease of life. Her depression vanished and she was almost wildly gay. Perhaps Mrs. Crandell would not come and after all she had done her duty, all Horace could expect, in asking her.

Yet she knew Horace was troubled by his mother's reception of their plan and strove constantly to make him feel he had lost nothing of his happiness should she refuse to join them. Tomorrow—At a Quiet Summer Resort
